

XM provides a convenient and excellent service. The government has no place to dictate what services American consumers should buy.